

This But's For You!

Who are you going to vote for? The elephant and the donkey are both standing in front of the but single. But we'll support the one that really gets behind the but single. Calvin Coolidge, running for president, promised a chicken in every pot and a car in every garage. He didn't mean that the government would give people these things, but simply that the country would prosper under his leadership and people could afford to buy these things for themselves. Talking about our present economic prosperity, promise us a but single for every man, woman and child in this country, and then we'll know that we have truly prospered.

THE NEW BUTOPIAN

AUGUST 2000

ISSUE NUMBER SIX - THE BUTMOBILE

FREE

Introducing the Butmobile!

With sleek shiny 2001 models arriving in showrooms soon, a certain German automaker lifts the tarp for The New Butopian this month to unveil an exciting new concept in personal transportation—the Butmobile.

"Wait a second," you say, glancing at the photos—"they just took two new Beetles and welded them together." Yes, they did—and in so doing, they created a whole much greater than the sum of its parts.

"Our studies of aerodynamics have shown us some surprising results," said a company spokesman. "We found that by putting a large depression in the middle of the vehicle, we trap and then release large gusts of air that actually help to move the vehicle forward. We coined a term for this—I think in English it translates as breaking wind."

One salesman took me for a spin in the Butmobile, and I have to admit that the car moves very well. However, I found the breaking wind very noisy. The salesman said he doubts most riders will care much about the noise when they realize the gas mileage they're getting. But he did say the company has a silencer available as an add-on option, which the engineers have nicknamed, with typical German humor, silent but deadly.

Whether breaking wind on an open stretch of autobahn or cooling its cubic inches curbside, the Butmobile certainly cuts a fine figure that any student of finely-molded German automotive metal can admire. And we hope to do so for years to come.

The Butmobile is the first car available to the general public that runs entirely on methane.

BUTZVILLE PICTURE OF THE MONTH

The Buttzville Realty

In a larger sense, it could be the Buttzville reality. And is it merely coincidence that the sign suggests the symbol of the third eye? Maybe, if you believe in coincidences.

Rocky Mountain Oyster Militia Fires Again

"We call it 'labeling,'" says Robert Moronic, spokesman for the Rocky Mountain Oyster Militia, referring to the recent incident in which an unidentified militia member shot six people with various colors of paint balls.

"It was horrible, very scary!" said Chu Yung Fat, a witness to the shooting. "The pick-up stopped, the driver got out—he was dressed in military gear—he raised that paintball gun and just started firing! There was yellow paint everywhere!"

Yellow paint hit three people in Chinatown. Later that same afternoon the same man hit Roberto Martinez drive-by style with a brown paint ball, Letitia Jones with a black paint ball and Falling Rocks with a red paint ball.

"This country needs to get back to the values that made it great," says Moronic. "I mean white bread, white meat, white potatoes, white eggs, white wash! White makes right!"

So does he know who did the shooting? Mr. Moronic wouldn't say. Does he approve of the shooting?

"We carry our paint guns proudly—we have a constitutional right to do so. If Thomas Jefferson had owned a paint gun, I'm sure he would have written it into The Bill of Rights."

So again the question, does he approve of the shooting?

"We practice shooting, we carry the guns, we tell people we will shoot them. But I can't be held personally responsible if one of our members actually does shoot someone, he was acting completely on his own. But I'm not going to say that I think what he did was wrong."

"Look, if people want to shoot white paint balls at us, let them! We're not afraid of anything white."

However, Moronic does think a recent stand-off between the Militia and local law enforcement was a bit one-sided.

"We had paint balls, they had live ammunition."

With three militia members hospitalized in serious condition for gunshot wounds, does the local sheriff think the use of deadly force justified?

"Without a doubt," says John Law. "Several of my officers received serious cuts and bruises while dodging paint balls.

(continued on other side)

IN THE NEWS

"It's our job, but how many times can you make jokes about Jennifer Lopez's butt?" said Andy Richter, commenting about leaving his job as Conan O'Brien's Late Night sidekick.

From a VH-1 show about movies about musicians comes the following quote: "And the movie [Selena] turned Jennifer Lopez into a star—no ifs, ands or but(t)s."

The lead article on the cover of the June 2000 issue of Self magazine is titled Sexy Abs and Butt.

"My butt is sweating," said the lead character of Malcolm in the Middle on a recent show.

The July 2000 Playboy carries the following quote from Tori Spelling: "My butt is fascinating to me. I like it so much that whenever I dance, I'm always looking at it."

And in June Robin Quivers reported on the Howard Stern Show about a former exotic dancer who sued her plastic surgeon over an operation in which he put breast implants in her butt. She had been making a good living as a dancer but she had a flat butt and believed she could do better if it was surgically enhanced. The doctor put breast implants in her butt, but she didn't like the way they looked or felt and had them removed. The doctor's lawyer called the suit "asinine."

Red Cent Records Official Statement 8/1/00, Regarding the but album: It's not done yet!

But Definition of the Month dis•tri•but•or (dis'trə•but'•ər). n. person or thing that makes sure every little butt ends up going where its butt should be.

The New Butopian is published monthly by the Society for a New Butopia, which is solely responsible for its content. We thank Red Cent Records for the use of their staff and facilities. However, the opinions and viewpoints expressed by The New Butopian do not necessarily reflect those of Red Cent Records.

But Celeb of the Month

This man (profiled at left) has starred in a long-running animation duo with a partner named Beavis on MTV. We show two views of him, one as he appears on the set, and another less character-istic appearance off set.

(Answer in next month's TNB)

Answer to July 2000 But Celeb of the Month—Brett Butler, pictured at right at bat.

Militia Fires Again

(continued from other side)

At least one officer had to get a very short haircut after a paint ball hit him in the head. We completely repainted two squad cars, the militia destroyed the finish on both of them. I hate to think about getting one of those paint balls in the eye."

"These people are dangerous, and they deserve whatever they got! If someone shoots you with a bullet, they can only take away your life or your physical health. But if someone shoots you with paint, they take away something far more important—your dignity!"

Law also repeated a rumor I had heard. "They eat Rocky Mountain oysters (bull's balls) in a secret ceremony, like a religious sacrament. Why else would they call themselves that?"

"We have a right to our privacy, our beliefs and our dietary preferences," says Robert defiantly. "And as long as the Constitution stands, I'll carry my paint gun! You can have it when you can pry it out of my greasy dripping fingers!"

BUT(T)S IN POLITICS: WHEN THINGS GET CHEESY

Butz on the Web

(A short listing of present Butz sites on the World Wide Web)

butz.com

Alvin H. Butz, Inc. construction manager, a construction firm in Allentown, PA.

hbutz.com

Henry Butz, a New York based fine-art figure photographer, specializing in B/W female nudes

butzhacker.com

The Butz-Hacker Insurance Agency, an independent insurance agent in Easter Pennsylvania formed in 1995 from the merger of The Butz Company Insurance, Inc. of Emmaus and The William H. Hacker Company of Allentown

nobutz.com

An organization whose apparent aim is to rid the world of cigarette butts (see logo at left)

elektro-butz.de

Beste Darstellung: 1024 x 768 Pixel Auch wir versuchen es im Web. Wunder brauchen etwas länger In unserem Gästebuch lesen In unser Gästebuch schreiben (we couldn't have said it better...)

Red Cent Records
1308 Centennial #167
Piscataway, NJ 08855-6858

Find us on the web with search engine keyword "Butzville"